

CLOSE CALL FOR NIGHTWATCHMAN

Bullet From Gun of Box Car Thief Grazes John Carlson's Head.

WOUND TWO INCHES LONG

Man Who Did Shooting Escapes, but His Companion Is Held—Police-men Find Loot.

The deflection of a single degree of the angle at which a would-be assassin held a revolver as he fired at John Carlson, the night watchman at the Rio Grande last night, would have meant instant death for the latter instead of having the bullet graze his forehead and then pass into space. With the sting of this bleeding wound, Carlson still retained his courage and arrested one of the pair of box car thieves and set out in search of the man who had fired on him as soon as the wound was dressed.

The shooting occurred at the Rio Grande yards where Carlson detected two men robbing a box car containing shoes. He covered one with a gun and the other came out of the car, then placed the pair under arrest and marched them to the station. After going about two blocks, one turned without warning and fired on Carlson at such close range that the powder burned his face. He returned fire halting one man but the robber who fired the shot escaped. He bravely took his captive to the station house and turned him over to the police. The man was an Italian and gave his name as Sam George.

OFFICERS FIND LOOT.

Carlson was taken to the emergency hospital where he was attended by Asst. City Physician H. B. Spaulding, who said that Carlson's escape from instant death was the most miraculous thing he had ever seen. The bullet tore a wound two inches long across his forehead, exposing the bone. It could not have come closer to the bone without penetrating the skull. After his wound was dressed, Carlson joined a double barreled shotgun and six pairs of shoes, the footwear being identified as part of the loot from the box car.

RECTOR PERKINS TO LEAVE.

Advises His Flock That Resignation Must Be Accepted.

Rector Charles E. Perkins of St. Paul's Episcopal church in this city informed the vestry of his church Monday evening that he could not remain here, and his resignation therefore would have to be considered final. The reasons he gave were purely personal, and for one thing said his parents were well along in years, and wished him to be with them in Baltimore. At the same time there were other reasons which he stated only Bishop Spaulding, and which appeared to be satisfactory to him. Mr. Perkins left for the east this morning, declining the urgent requests of his congregation to reconsider and remain.

The vestry appointed Dr. F. A. Druehl, John A. Houghton and George M. Marshall as a committee to confer with Bishop Spaulding in the effort to find a new rector, and passed resolutions deprecating the departure of the Rev. Dr. Perkins, who has officiated here acceptably for the last nine years. For the present, Bishop Spaulding will occupy St. Paul's pulpit, and efforts will be made to secure a new minister as soon as possible.

CHICAGO LAND SHOW PROVES ITS WORTH

Mal. Fred Reed of Idaho Writes Enthusiastic Letter Regarding Exhibit.

In a letter received by D. S. Spencer, assistant general passenger agent of the Oregon Short Line railroad, from Maj. Fred K. Reed, a glowing report of the success of the land show held in Chicago is given. Maj. Reed's letter, which is a lengthy one, says in part:

"When you come to consider that there were a quarter of a million people visited this great land show in 16 days, you can appreciate the amount of interest which was displayed. H. L. Hollister, with his stereoscopic views of southern Idaho and the splendid lectures given by Col. H. B. Spaulding, were particularly instructive, and the people got a great deal for the 50 cents they paid for admission. There were stereoscopic views and lectures on many of the states, viz: Louisiana, Texas, Mississippi, New Mexico, Arizona, Wyoming, California, Oregon, Washington, Utah, Montana, Wisconsin, Nebraska, and several other states.

There is only one plan that it seems to me would be better for the northwest. If the states tributary to the Harriman system had a land show of their own, it might have produced better results for the northwest and California. However, it was a great campaign of education, and every person who visited the show certainly got his money's worth, although it was so big that when he got through he was somewhat confused.

The Union Pacific and Southern Pacific had a magnificent display, and Utah did itself proud. J. Edward Taylor, state horticulture inspector, with headquarters at Salt Lake, made a great hit for Utah on May day by feeding the crowd tea, biscuits and Utah alfalfa honey. He had 6,000 biscuits made, and about 10 Utah girls dressed in white, dispensed the delicious honey and biscuits, and the jam in front of the booth all day was wonderful. Mr. Taylor is a very efficient and capable man, and very fair and generous in his treatment of Idaho as well as Utah; these two booths were side by side.

While I do not think that most of the people who are making inquiries are going to pull up stakes and start for Idaho, I am of the opinion that the magnificent campaign of education which has been going on for the last 16 days has accomplished a wonderful amount of good. It takes from six to 18 months for this advertising to sink into the public, but there is no question about the great good that it accomplishes. If we get a settler for Idaho for every 2,000 who visited the land show, it would mean eight families a day, which for 16 days would be 128. That is stating it conservatively. These families have a circle of friends, and they all go to talking. We have had seven telephone calls this morning at our hotel from people who wanted to come and talk. This shows that we have done some good.

I would advise the real estate men of every community in Idaho to send their representatives to Missouri and Mississippi valley points. The Harriman system for the broad and splendid manner in which they have advertised the country tributary to their lines, and for the liberal manner in which they have treated people who were exhibitors in the land show. Summing the whole matter up, it has been a great, splendid success. The crowds were good natured and receptive, and most of them very earnest in their desire for information regarding the west, especially the Pacific northwest. The land show has been a great success.

SAVED FROM AWFUL DEATH.

How an appalling calamity in his family was prevented is told by A. D. McDonald of Fayetteville, N. C. R. D. S. writes: "My wife, Mrs. V. C. McDonald, writes: 'My very thin and pale, had no appetite and seemed to grow weaker every day, as all remedies failed. At last, King's New Discovery was tried, and so completely cured her, that she has not been troubled with a cough since. It's the best medicine I ever saw or heard of.' For coughs, colds, laryngitis, asthma, croup, hemorrhage—all bronchial troubles, it has no equal. 50c. $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by Z. C. M. L., 112-114 Main St., Salt Lake City.

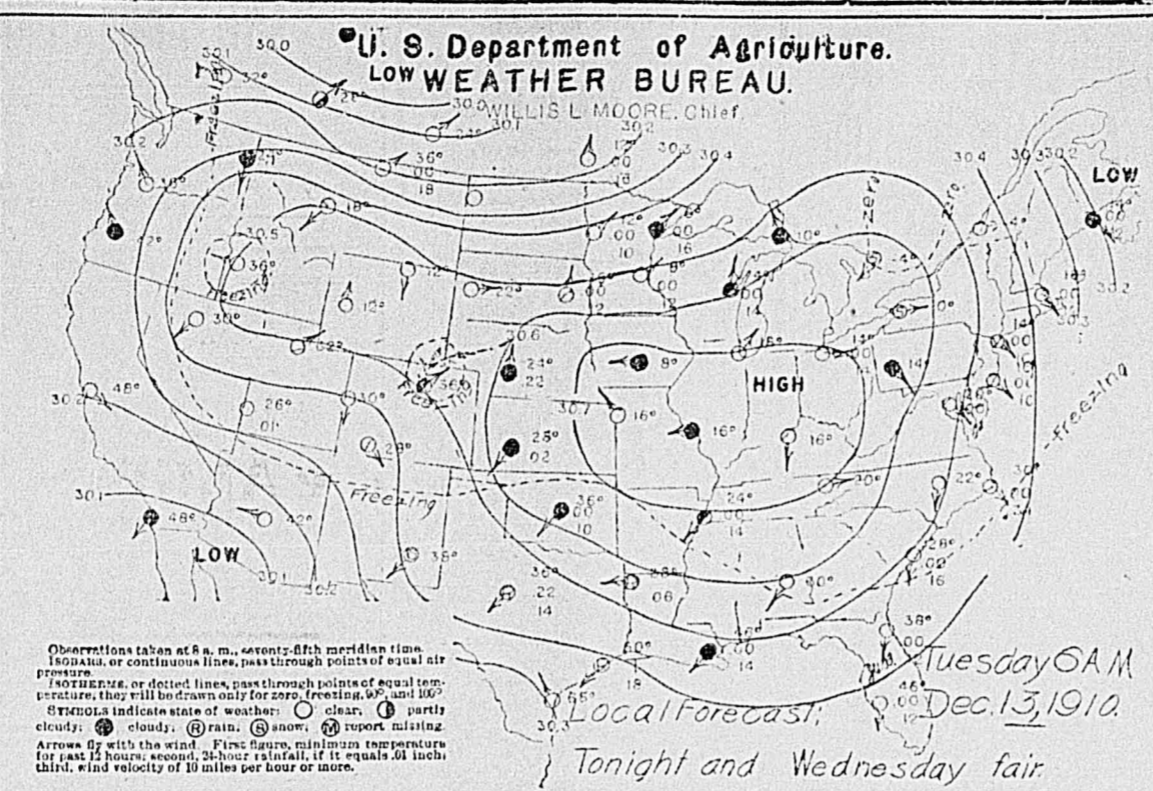

WILL ASK APPROPRIATION.

Utah Archeological Society Desires to Continue Work Among Ruins.

Having exhausted the appropriation for archeological work, made by the legislature two years ago, the Utah Archeological society will ask the coming legislature for another appropriation to carry on its work among the prehistoric ruins of southeastern Utah. The work of this society has been chiefly in preserving the ruins of cliff dwellings and pueblos. Laws were passed at the time the appropriation was made, making it illegal for relics from these ruins to be removed from the state. The treasures of the ancients have been searched, their contents have been placed in the state museum, with the result that much of interest has been added to the institution.

A meeting of the executive board was held Sunday night at the home of Bishop P. D. Spaulding, at which W. H. Rutter next Saturday night, to which all members of the Utah branch of the American Institute of Archeology are requested to come.

THE ROUND OF THE THEATERS

"THE DOLLAR PRINCESS"

morning with a rush, and Manager Pypers' confident expectation is that the house will be sold out when the curtain rises on "The Dollar Princess." The play is a little too swift company. Messrs. Monroe and Powell, vocalists and instrumentalists, make good, and last night were recalled time and time again. The orchestra, under the direction of Willard Welke, is not by any means the least entertaining feature.

"THE TRAVELING SALESMAN"

comes to the theater this evening after tomorrow. The original production will be on hand, and as none of Mr. Harris' attractions play during the week immediately preceding Christmas, all the members of the company will be here a week in advance to spend their Christmas vacation. Mark Smith is the "Salesman."

COLONIAL—Lovers of light opera, the admirers of Jefferson de Angelis, and the friends of Viola Pratt Gillette were out in force last night to greet "The Beauty Spot," on its first presentation in this city. The piece is built along frothy, French lines, with rather delicate suggestions as to the "beauty spot" until the final curtain falls, when the matter is cleared up in a burst of hilarity. The piece presents a strong number of efficient principals. Mr. De Angelis himself, while he has no such "fat" opportunities as he was given in "The Jolly Musketeer," "The Wandering Day," etc., operas which were written for him, still brings a lot of merriment out of the part of the lively old General, and if his "Sea Shell" song did not evoke the echoes that it has done elsewhere, he must set it down to the fact that he vaudevillean long ago robbed that number of its bloom. His "Polish Question" solo, though also rather worn, went in enthusiastically last night.

Viola Pratt Gillette was a great surprise. She has undoubtedly improved in voice and action since she was last seen here, and presents a beautifully statuesque appearance in her bewitching gowns. Her "Memoirs" solo, a group of familiar airs from several operas, was charmingly done, as was also her solo work with the quintette, "I was Dreaming." She had a handsome reception on her entrance. Another popular member of the company is Mr. George McFarlane, who appeared with Miss Gillette some years ago in "The Girl and the Bandit." His "The Venetian Rose," his beautiful voice is equally well fitted in "The Beauty Spot." In several solo numbers he has shown his charming romance and the hammock duet were especially fetching. Still another of the company who had many friends in the audience, was Mr. Frank Foster, a member of the tabernacle choir in former years, and later of the Salt Lake Opera company. He heads a male quartet, which last night had a number of recalls for his charming work, and was also given an effective solo at the opening of the second act, which was well executed. In action, singing, and making up, Mr. Foster shows that he has been in a good school.

An excellent character bit was contributed by Mr. Paulson, in the part of the Dutch coffee planter, who ought to have been given more to do. A

In her delineation of the Princess of Mauritania, her costumes were appropriate, and her rendition of the part of the patriotic woman was entirely delightful. Miss Dills as the scheming Frenchwoman was at home in an emotional part, which she is peculiarly fitted to interpret. Mr. Seymour as the Black Elphberg gave a strong rendition of the unscrupulous plotter, and he was ably backed up by J. David Herblin, who put a great deal of life into the lines of the wild and reckless adventurer, Hentzau. Perhaps the best thing Henry Crosby has yet done, was his old song in last night's performance. He is fitted in form, manner and speech for the part, and his delineation left little to be desired. Wilson Day as Fritz was very acceptable.

In the prologue, Miss Helen Collier carried off the honors. She is in every way adapted to the part of the countless of "assendyl," her rendition of the difficult scenes being most pleasing. Prof. Sardon's orchestra was in extra fine fettle last evening, some of the productions winning well merited applause.

THE DOUGALL RECITAL—The Salt Lake theater was crowded Monday evening, on the occasion of the advanced pupils of Hugh W. Dougall. Generally, with a purely invitation affair, the call for reserved seats is discounted at about half of the number of invitations issued; but on this occasion, it seemed as though every one who received a card proposed to be there and wanted the best seat in the house.

The program as printed in Saturday's News was carried out, with the exception of Miss Denbater's number, as she was unable to be present on account of a bad cold. The vocalists were all well received, a number of them being handsomely remembered by their friends in a flowery way. The star of the evening was Miss Elma Young, who spent five or six months within the last year studying in New York. Miss Young, one of the noted vocal instructors there, who was also teacher of Mr. Brines.

Miss Young's voice is a rich mezzo, clear and sweet, and perfect control, and with charming powers of expression and interpretation. Miss Grant, a well known and popular vocalist, was in excellent voice, and sang in her usual sure and tasteful style. Miss Summerhays, another favorite, was at her best. The Wagner numbers by Misses Ida Morris and Miss Borchard gave marked satisfaction, and little Miss Ivy Evans proved a favorite with a voice very much like that of her sister, Edna. Mrs. McNitt, Misses Irene Kelly, Gardiner and Westphal, and Messrs. Brown and Ald, were all well received. Mr. Peterson's baritone showed up well in the "Pagliacci" number, and Mr. Summerhays proved himself as popular a singer as ever.

When Mr. Dougall appeared to explain the absence of Miss Denbater, he was given a warm welcome. Miss Maud Riter sang the contralto part in the "Rigoletto" number.

A specially noteworthy feature of the evening, was the accompanying at the piano by Spencer Clouston. Mr. Clouston showed most excellent judgment and intelligent consideration of his work all through.

Garments purchased regularly and sold at a profit at this price must be of inferior material and poorly made. Now when this store—because of unusual conditions offers you dependable and attractive boys' suits and overcoats at the above-mentioned price you may know there's something doing out of the ordinary.

The Manufacturers Stand the Loss

Manufacturers of ready-to-wear garments always make up a surplus over and above their booked orders, with which to fill immediately orders coming in late in the season. Owing to weather conditions prevailing all over the country, retailers had no need to reorder. The manufacturers' selling season ended on December 1, with their surplus stocks unsold. They stamped. Resident buyers in New York were besieged with offers to close out lines. We were in a position to use a certain amount, and the price made us enable us to sell you these garments for two dollars and ninety-five cents.

100 Boys' Suits

Gray and brown shades in double-breasted and Norfolk models; sizes 7 to 15 years, but largely in sizes 8 to 12. Russian Blouse suits, in sizes 2-12 to 7 years. Regular price would be four and five dollars; all at $2.95.

Girls' Winter Coats

Sizes 3 to 7 years only. These coats are from our regular stock. Owing to the warm weather we have a surplus of these coats ourselves, and just as the maker of these boys' suits and coats went to our New York buyer we are going to you to dispose of them. All coats are strictly all wool and high grade; some are really worth $7.00 and $8.00, all at $2.95.

Boys' Overcoats

Some of all the different models—a few long coats; sizes 12 to 16 years, but mostly sizes 5 to 10 years. Like the suits, regular price $4.00 to $5.00; all at $2.95.
